

The Effingham Census of 1901 – Supplement

SUSAN MORRIS

This supplement to Article 7 corrects the stated occupation of one of Effingham's former residents.

Introduction

In Article 7 in Volume 1 there is a mention on p144 of Arthur Archibald Stovell, described there as Effingham's blacksmith.

His occupation was not blacksmith but boot repairer/maker and harness maker. In the 1901 Census he was described only as a harness maker.
